Biography:

Nicholas (Nick) Huang has a broad range of experience in international and domestic business and corporate transactions and litigation, real estate, homeowner's association and property management, trust and estate planning and administration, and guardianships. He provides negotiation and litigation representation at the federal and state level.

Nick often serves as outside in-house counsel to assist in daily external and internal operations, business strategy, and implementation of preventative measures. This general counsel work includes corporate governance, mergers and acquisitions, loan and financing application, construction management, drafting vendor and customer contracts, and employment litigation and investigations relating to discrimination, harassment, and wage and labor claims. He also advises corporate clients regarding compliance on federal, state, and local levels, and he interacts with government agencies on related audits. Past industries of representation include internet technology and web development, construction, manufacturing, transportation and logistics, private equity and finance, tax and accounting, real estate brokerage and property management, insurance, medical and dental, health care and mental health, industrial storage and warehousing, restaurant and food services, grocery and supermarket, retail, social services, and charitable and community outreach.

Additionally, Nick provides guidance on structuring and forming corporations, partnerships, limited liability companies, nonprofit organizations, and professional corporations. He also counsels and advises on corporate regulations and compliance, director and officer responsibilities, and general business planning.

Nick has also supported clients in the preparation of estate planning which commonly includes a will and trust, appointment of health care representative, general durable power of attorney, and living will. He has extensive experience in estate and trust administration, guardianships, and related probate litigation.

Nick was previously employed with the law firms of Dykema Gossett, PLLC, Hoepfner Wagner & Evans, LLC, and Maleki & Associates. He also served as a member of the conflict panel for the Marion County Public Defender's Agency. Nick has been a partner at Harrison & Moberly, LLP since 2015.
